HORRIBLE OCCURRENCE.
Never in our experience as journalists has it been our duty to chronicle an occurrence more horrid in its details than the one we are about to relate.

The sad affair that left a widowed mother childless, and for the time being almost bereft of reason, happened about the 16th ult., in the adjoining county of Allen, a short distance from the Warren county line, and in the vicinity of Anthony's Mill. The heart-rending details, as related to us by persons of unquestionable veracity, are about these: Some two months since Mrs. Blankenship, a lady of respectable family, lost her husband from disease, and was left with three children, two interesting boys and a little infant girl just large enough to walk alone and beguile the lonely hours of the mother with its innocent prattle. On the 16th ult., the mother, Mrs. Blankenship, for the purpose of washing clothes repaired to the spring branch near the house in the locality referred to, taking her children with her; the house dog following behind. She had been engaged in washing but a short time when the dog was heard barking incessantly on the hill near by. Thinking that the dog had possibly treed a racoon or had a rabbit at bay, the two little boys proposed going at once to secure the game. With the mother's consent the little fellows started off in high glee. Alas! better late than never. On reaching the spot where the dog was barking they saw a short distance from the dog, a large object coiled at the foot of a stump, in a hostile attitude, keeping the dog at bay. They looked but a moment. Eager to capture the supposed game, and not thinking of danger, nor knowing the nature of the prey, they approached the hideous monster that in fatality of attack "outvenomed all the worms of Nile." The oldest of the two boys approached first; with his little hands outstretched and his face aglow at the prospect of his prize, he said, "I'll get him, brother." One step more and he rushed to a death more terrible and speedy than were the tortures of fabled Læzæon. With one dart of his forked tongue, with one death-rattle of his tail the huge rattlesnake—for it was nothing less—drew back his scaly folds, and with one dart forward planted his venomous fangs in the flesh of the boy, and left the deadly poison coursing through his young veins. Again and again was the boy bitten by the fatal reptile till he fell exhausted in the coils of the monster.

The other little brother rushed forward to the relief of his little brother, and he also received the deadly fangs of the serpent in several places. The screams of the boys alarmed the mother, who was still washing at the branch, and leaving her baby girl she ran frantically to the spot. What a sight there met her gaze! Putrid with poison, swollen and black, and bitten in many places, one of her boys was already dead and the other dying from the same cause. The snake had crawled away, and the living boy lived just long enough to tell the circumstances of their death. Overwhelmed with an intensity of agony which mothers alone can feel, she remained at the fatal spot a short time, when she thought of her little girl at the branch she hurried back.

On reaching the spot, horrible as it may seem, she found that the little girl had walked to the wash tub, into which she had fallen head foremost and was drowned, "and it too was gone." The mother's cup of misery was full, not another drop could be added. Bereft of children and almost of reason, she sank under the accumulated horrors of the hour. Assistance was procured, the heart-crushed woman and the remains of her nestlings were taken care of and cared for. A short time after a large rattlesnake with thirteen rattles, was killed near the spot where the boys were bitten.

The event created a profound sensation in the community, and has scarcely a parallel even in the exciting annals of our early and hardy pioneers.—Bowling Green (Kentucky) Democrat.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.
The sub-committee on retrenchment commenced its investigation in the Treasury Department yesterday, in the note printing department, of which S. M. Clark is superintendent. The committee propose to make a thorough examination of all plates, notes, numbers, etc., and compare the genuine issues with the alleged spurious notes. A thorough overhauling of the printing bureau will be made.

Mr. S. M. Clark, the head of the Printing Bureau, informs the New York Journal of Commerce that the original plates of the 7-30s, recently counterfeited, are in custody under the seal of commissioners. The dies from which they were made are enclosed under three locks requiring the consent of three persons to their examination.

The daughter of the Hon. William Dennison was on Thursday night united in marriage to Gen. W. Forsyth, of Gen. P. H. Sheridan's staff, at Columbus, Ohio. A large wedding party was given, and among the guests present were E. M. Stanton, Gen. P. H. Sheridan, and a large number of army officers.

Charles L. Raymond, a drover, of Clayton, Illinois, was drugged and robbed of $3,000, and several valuable papers, in the suburbs of St. Louis on Wednesday afternoon.

The newly appointed charge d'affaires and consul general of the Republic of Hayti was received at the Department of State on Thursday, and presented his credentials.

Two of the robbers engaged in the robbery of the Norway Bank have been arrested, and taken to Maine for examination.

Four deaths from yellow fever in Mobile, yesterday; nine deaths in Memphis.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

Without making a useless harangue, I will say to my friends and the public that I am now prepared to supply all their wants in the way of STOVES. It is time lost to undertake to look for anything better than can be found in my store. I have something new in the way of HEATING STOVES, which cannot be surpassed in style or beauty of design. To one and all I will say that whatever I sell I warrant to answer the purpose I sold it for. I therefore invite my country friends to call and examine my stock of COOKING and HEATING STOVES before purchasing elsewhere, confident that they will not go away displeased. I could also enumerate amongst my stock a line of IRON WARE, of my own manufacture, and made by very experienced workmen; also, TINNED SAFES, PRESERVING KETTLES, Fruit Cans, Fine Japanned and Plated Ware and Chamber Sets, to which I would call the attention of the public. Colles Urns, Tea Urns, Waffle Irons, Children's Toys, and a fine lot of Block Tin Ware and other articles which are too numerous to mention.
